

Heat energy and coolant metering units DN100 and DN200

Heat energy and coolant metering units DN100 and DN200

Metering units - a set of instruments and devices designed for commercial metering of thermal energy, mass (volume) of the coolant, as well as control and registration of its parameters.

